Going to Hell and Back to Get the Green Message Out Campbell Also Teams Up with "Bottom of Ticket" Local Candidate

Offers DeVos Jr., Granholm "Un-Catch-22" So They Can Join CMN Debate Oct. 18 in Troy

Douglas Campbell, two-time candidate for governor of the Green Party of Michigan (GPMI), has been criss-crossing the state to bring the people the Green message of "Peace, Jobs, & Justice". Today, he traveled to Hell – and back – taking his campaign door-to-door in that famously-named Michigan community, before an AARP gubernatorial candidate forum on health policy at the EMU Convocation Center in Ypsilanti and more grassroots campaigning in Ann Arbor with Ward 3 City Council candidate Pete Schermerhorn.

Campbell is also still trying to help two of his rivals make it to a debate which he and two other candidates have already signed on for – moderated by WXYT-AM 1270 radio current-events show host Charlie Langton – to be taped at Community Media Network in Troy starting at 5:30pm Wednesday, Oct. 18. CMN will also make copies of the program available for individuals and other public-access stations.

Campbell and fellow Greens gathered at the Dam Site Inn in Hell at 10am. They went door-to-door in Hell and nearby communities through the morning. Campbell then headed for the health-policy forum in Ypsilanti at 2pm – though AARP wasn't prepared to talk about his plans for statewide universal health care. And he ended the day with more door-to-door campaigning in Ann Arbor's Ward 3 – teaming up with Schermerhorn, GPMI's candidate in that ward's City Council race.

Campbell also hopes to talk next week with the latecomers to the Nov. 7 ballot, Jennifer Granholm and Dick DeVos, Jr.

"Dick & Jen's private agreement – their deal with the devil they know, each other – stomps on the public's right to know. The first of its 21 clauses bars them from even commenting on debates with all five candidates. But they can agree in writing to change that contract. So we're going to make it easy for them. We're sending them a new clause – an 'un-Catch-22' . . . so they can talk each other, or dare each other, into showing up at CMN in Troy by 5:30pm on the 18th.

"I'll be there. So will Libertarian Gregory Creswell and Bhagwan Dashairya of the US Taxpayers Party. We'll be ready, as we have been since before they joined us on the ballot, to let the people of Michigan know where all the candidates stand on all the issues. And we all welcome CMN's help in spreading the news statewide."

Campbell will have copies of the new clause available for the two missing candidates at the last of their closed-door quasi-debates, a town-hall forum Oct. 16 at WXYZ. He has been turned away by armed guards and chain-link fence from their earlier private talking-point recitals at WKAR Oct. 2 and WOOD Oct. 10.

Campbell asks voters to urge Dick & Jen to go to Troy. "Our state's leader for the next four years must have the courage to face all views. And you deserve to know about all the candidates you'll face on the ballot. You're entitled to insist on the whole story – from them and from the media."
